Campbellford Memorial Hospital Announces Upcoming Retirement of CEO

On December 8, 2020, the Campbellford Memorial Hospital Board of Directors received notice from Varouj Eskedjian of his intention to retire as CEO of the hospital on June 25th, 2021.

Paul Nichols, Board Chair stated, “While we wish Varouj well in his retirement, the Board will be acting quickly to begin the process of determining his successor and throughout this process, the maintenance of high-quality leadership is a priority”.

Mr. Nichols added, “The Board is grateful to Varouj for his leadership over the past three and a half years. He successfully stabilized the organization and ensured, through investments in people, the physical plant and in systems, that CMH is well positioned to meet current and future challenges and opportunities.”
