New Dermatology Clinic Coming to Campbellford Memorial Hospital

February 27th, 2024 – Campbellford Memorial Hospital (CMH) is delighted to announce the opening of a new outpatient Dermatology clinic. The clinic will be operated by Dr. Ashley O’Toole, a Royal College trained dermatologist from Peterborough. This clinic will mark a significant enhancement in dermatological healthcare services for the community.

Dr. O’Toole brings with her a wealth of expertise and experience, having received her medical degree from McMaster University in Hamilton and completing her residency in dermatology at the University of Ottawa. She is also an adjunct professor at Queens University, is a co-author of over 25 peer-reviewed publications, and has been involved as a sub-investigator for over 90 clinical trials on conditions such as atopic dermatitis, psoriasis, hidradenitis suppurativa, alopecia, acne, itch, glabellar lines, and vitiligo.

The clinic, scheduled to operate on the first Friday of every month, will cater to a wide array of dermatological concerns including acne and rosacea management, rashes such as psoriasis and eczema, and suspected skin cancers. Dr. O’Toole is committed to delivering comprehensive and compassionate care to all patients referred to the clinic, ensuring that each individual receives the highest standard of treatment.

Campbellford Memorial Hospital encourages all individuals in need of dermatological care to talk to their health care provider and take advantage of this new resource. Referrals are already being accepted.
